A MONTHLY LECTURE SERIES AIMED AT DEVELOPING A HAWAIIAN WORLD VIEW AT UH HILO

ULALIA WOODSIDE

"CULTURAL KNOWLEDGE: A
MINIMUM QUALIFICATION FOR A
HAWAI'I CONSERVATION CAREER"

SEPTEMBER 14, 2017

UCB 127

12:30 PM - 1:30 PM

Ulalia Woodside, Director of The Nature Conservancy of Hawai'i, has been a conservationist and a hula practitioner all her life and practicing both interchangeably. The first event in our lecture series for will inform audiences that knowledge of these islands and its host culture is priority in conservation and conservation science careers. Ulalia will stress the importance of the conservationist becoming the connection between Native Hawaiian environmental knowledge and western traditional conservation science.

Sponsored by Mōkaulele Program, Office of the Chancellors University of Hawai'i at Hilo and Hawai'i Community College. Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, Title III Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions Grant.
